A short trip across west London, but allow plenty of time for the walk to the Cottage and the queues for a local derby. The away section is in the Putney End, approached from Stevenage Road beside Bishop's Park. Follow the entrance and block printed on your Brentford ticket.

Getting there by rail and public transport

Putney Bridge, on the Wimbledon branch of the District line, is the closest Tube station. Allow about 15–20 minutes on foot, using the signed route towards Bishop's Park and Stevenage Road. Hammersmith offers another approach, but with a longer walk. Check TfL for weekend closures before choosing your route from west London; a geographically short journey can still involve a change of train. At the time of writing there are no engineering works planned by TfL on the District Line on Saturday 12 December 2026.

Driving and parking

Public transport is the practical choice. Craven Cottage has no general public stadium car park and surrounding streets have parking controls. If you must drive, reserve a legitimate space and check its matchday conditions and closing time. Use the parking address for navigation rather than driving straight to the stadium; leave time to walk the last section.

Pubs, food and families

The Eight Bells, near Putney Bridge, is a familiar away-supporter option; the Kings Arms and Temperance have also been recommended in visiting-club advice. Check admission arrangements for this Brentford derby before committing to a meeting point, especially with children. For a meal, allow time around Putney or Fulham High Street before walking to the ground. There are food and drink kiosks in the visiting section.

Bags, payment and entry

Travel light. Fulham's published policy limits bags to A4 size; check the current dimensions, prohibited items and any medical exemption before leaving. Do not rely on being able to store an oversized bag at the away entrance. Have your payment card ready for refreshments and allow extra time for searches. There is no re-entry once you leave the ground.

Fulham stadium FAQs

Accessibility

Arrange any accessible seating, parking or assistance before the trip through Brentford and Fulham's access team. Accessible parking is limited and must be agreed in advance. On arrival, ask a steward for the accessible entrance beside the away turnstiles. Do not assume that the shortest Tube route is step-free; check your whole journey, including station exits and the final walk.

Getting home

The streets and paths towards Putney Bridge become busy after the match. Allow a comfortable margin before any onward rail connection and agree a meeting point with your group away from the exit gates. If you are using Hammersmith instead, save that walking route before kick-off. Keep enough phone battery for both your ticket and the journey home.

BIAS Insider Tips

Save the route to the Putney End, rather than just the stadium pin. Decide where you will eat before joining the busiest part of the walk. A waterproof layer is useful for the riverside approach, and a small bag makes searches simpler. Check the ticket instructions again the evening before the match.
